Identify the Phases of the Moon. Waxing Crescent € when we can see only a sliver of the moon's disk (right-hand side). Full Moon € when the moon's disk is light because the Earth is between the sun and the moon. Gibbous Waxing € when we can see roughly three-quarters of the moon's disk (the right side of the moon is lit).

Name Identifying Phases of the Moon

Beneath the mantle lies a small lunar core made of metallic iron. The size of the core is highly uncertain, with estimates ranging from about 100 km to 400 km. That little core is important, though. The Moon does not have much of a magnetic field, so the lunar core is not generating magnetism the way Earth's core is.
